CASE STUDY—Port Planning Applications

Customer problem/requirement

A navigation authority which applies the Port Marine Safety Code (PMSC) received two applications to construct marinas within its jurisdiction.

Benefits to customer

Regs4ships Marine Enforcement department were engaged as independent experts. We produced a sensible and practical report which explained the maritime dimension of the application and the PMSC implications to the Planning Committee, on the assumption that they may have limited knowledge of these matters.

Special Skills brought by regs4ships

We suggested to the Committee that a distinction needed to be drawn between "ease of navigation" and "safety of navigation" because although they may be linked they are not the same and we identified the issues relevant to each.

Deadline Performance

The report on the two planning applications and their implications for the operation of the port were completed to the satisfaction and within the time frame dictated by the navigation authority.

What our customers thought

"Harbour Authorities are diverse by nature and the assistance we can provide will recognise that diversity. We are independent, yet we strive to work with those seeking our assistance to provide pragmatic solutions. We are available on a 'pick and put down' basis or on longer term packages tailored to our customer's needs"

Mark Capon, Managing Director, regs4ships Ltd

That "the report is a masterpiece of common sense allied with informed technical and legislative know-how."
